RedHorse Business Manager Gets a Face Lift

RedHorse Version 9.0 sports a new look, and companies can also now make more intelligent business decisions with updated Dashboard Charts

La Quinta, CA, 11/19/2018

RedHorse Systems today announced a new look for RedHorse Business Manager with a totally redesigned interface. The new colors and design give RedHorse an updated web-styled look while retaining all the power of a windows-based application.

This release also adds all new Dashboard Charts for better business intelligence when analyzing company performance indicators. Whether it's understanding a company's prospect or customer base, tracking sales and service, or comparing month-to-month/year-to-year statistics, the new charting capabilities take the Dashboard to a new level.

Advantages include:

• Dozens of new chart types for analysis of many data scenarios

• User by user security allows management to provide data intelligence to the right teams

• Fly-outs, zooming and printing of charts give clear understanding of the data and presentation capabilities

"The tools we use for dashboard charts are the strongest in the industry," said Connie Koch, RedHorse Systems founder and lead developer. "As the toolset grows, we want to include all of that power in RedHorse to allow our customers to benefit from all the important data they are collecting. Don't just collect. Learn-Adapt-Grow."
